yes, they would go out and listen to music.

When he sold the last of the stores, Mike continued to work at Children's Hospital in their Pharmacy department.

They prefer the Jazz and Standards of their youth. "It's the only good music. They don't write them like that anymore. Every time you hear them, you get a memory," Mike said. He was succinct and to the point when he added: "Life without music would be dull. We're just having fun." Adding a nod to the people who perform, Pat said: "We like the entertainers, too."

The D'Amores recall going to long gone venues like The Savoy and The Saxony to listen to Dick Rudebusch, Chuck Hedges and others who made music in this area and also made a splash nationally as well.

Now you will see them out and about at the aforementioned The Bay, Ally's Bistro in The Falls, The Packing House across from the airport, Crush Wine Bar in Waukesha, O'Donoghue's in Elm Grove, The ICC, et cetera.

North, South, East West...it matters not. The D'Amores' GPS points them to the music. And the musicians feel and much appreciate not only their zeal but their presence week after week.
